Nina

Nina feels that every girl should make an extra special effort to dress up prettily for when their men stagger in after a hard day at the football.

'It's at times like that when a man needs to be cosseted and loved, and what better way of showing your affection than by slipping into something alluring and serving up some delightfully chilled cocktails.

'You've always got to be careful not to overdo it, of course – don't want the little fellow getting so inebriated that he can't take full advantage of the skimpiness of your outfit. ♣
